

The 1st International Conference on Wireless Communications Frontiers (WCF 2010)

Chongqing, China, 12-14 July 2010

<http://siwn.org.uk/2010/WCF10.htm>

Wireless communications have remained one of the most vibrant and stimulating areas in driving forward the Information and Communications Technology. The tomorrow's picture of networks and communications appears as the convergence of diversified networks, integration of IP based core network and flexible robust wireless access, self-organization and self-management, on-demand service-oriented architectures, to just mention a few striking characteristics.

WCF 2010 provides a premier forum for researchers and engineers alike to present state-of-the-art research and development advances in all areas related to architecture, design, implementation, application and evaluation of wireless communications.

Topics

Topics of particular interest include (but not limited to) the following areas.

- (1) Mobile and Wireless Communications Technologies
- (2) Wireless Networks
- (3) Mobility and Mobile Services
- (4) Vehicular Communications
- (5) Applications

A detailed list of topics can be seen at the conference website.

Submission

WCF 2010 only accepts manuscripts of original contributions. A manuscript for submission to the Conference should neither have been published nor have been under consideration for publication elsewhere. All manuscripts submitted will be sent to 3-4 members of the International Program Committees of the Conferences for peer reviews, based on which the acceptance decision will be made.

To make a submission of manuscript, please follow the online submission of WCF 2010 <http://www.easychair.org/conferences/?conf=wcf2010>

A manuscript for submission to the Conference should be prepared according to the Instructions for Authors of the Journal. Sample Word Doc and Latex file of Camera-Ready Versions (CRV) are available at <http://fatech.org.uk/press/ita.htm> There is a page limit of 8 formatted pages for the CRV of an accepted paper. Additional pages are subject to over-length charges.

Proceedings and Journal Publication

All accepted papers of the Conferences will be included in the electronic Proceedings of SIWN 2010, which will be available at the Conferences. At the same time, high quality papers of the Conferences will be published in the International Journal <<Communications of SIWN>> (ISSN 1757-4439) (<http://fatech.org.uk/press/cosiwn/>) at the time of the Conferences. Decisions for the Proceedings and the Journal are solely based on the technical peer reviews conducted by the International Program Committees.
